MONTANA BOARD OF CRIME CONTROL

Day Two: Crime Reporting in Montana and Indian Country Stakeholder Meeting
September 19, 2008
Poplar, Montana

Meeting Topic

Accurate crime reporting impacts funding and grant opportunities that may come directly to your community. Effective use of data enables communities to make informed decisions, develop policy and ensure that decisions are the best use of resources. This is an opportunity to discuss the current status of crime reporting in Montana and Indian Country with your local counterparts as well as federal agencies that use this data. You may be a critical player in identifying current gaps and fashioning the solutions to incomplete or inaccurate reporting.

Who Should Attend

All stakeholders with questions or interest in how crime data is reported in the State of Montana and Indian Country should attend. All levels of law enforcement including records managers are strongly urged to attend. Other Key Stakeholders include Tribal Council Members, City and County Commissioners, State Legislators, public safety policy makers and interested community members. There is no cost to attend. However, you must RSVP to Casey Driscoll at the Board of Crime Control to reserve your lunch, 406.444.3689.
